Departments that wish to schedule one exam period for multiple sections of a particular course must make arrangements through the Registrar. However, when a student has a conflict, scheduled exams will have priority over rescheduled multiple testing arrangements. Laboratory exams should be announced and given during a laboratory period during the closing days of the term.

This examination schedule will be followed for all classes. The only exception will be where instructors foresee conflicts and bring them to the attention of the Registrar. If you foresee an examination conflict that requires a schedule change, please bring it to the attention of the Registrar.
