Phi Alpha Theta

Where

your love of history
can power your future

An honor society for students of history

You already know that the study of history provides perspectives on the present and can open a window on the future. Membership in Phi Alpha Theta is your opportunity to work with others to promote the study of history through the encouragement of research and good teaching.

In addition, members come together for intellectual and social exchanges, which both promote and assist in historical research and publication. It's an opportunity to share, learn and grow that can power your college education and your future.
