

Discussing Leadership in Regional Environmental Protection and Safety

An in-demand and smart career choice for our region - welcome to the environmental safety profession.

Businesses and industries within our region are experiencing a surge, so it's not surprising that CareerBuilder.com identified ESM as one of the fastest growing job categories. What impact will this have on education, the economy and employment?

To help launch its new Environmental Safety Management program, Thiel College welcomes some of our region's top minds in business and industry to discuss the vital role education will have in the growth of our region and how forward-thinking initiatives and business leaders can provide internships, careers and futures for our next generation.

Panel discussion members:

- Mark Marmo '93, CEO Deep Well Services
- John Thigpen '86, President, ILSCO Extrusions, Inc.
- Deborah Weible '84, President, Geo Environmental Drilling, Co.

Where:

Thiel College
Haer Family Science and Arts Connector
75 College Avenue
Greenville, Pa. 16125

When:

October 18, 9:30 a.m.

THIEL
COLLEGE