Frequently Asked Questions

What makes the MBA program at Thiel different from others?

Our program is on-campus and allows students to not only connect with their professors but with each other in their classes and with projects from local community agencies. With classes such as ethics, financial accounting, talent optimization and data analytics students learn unique skills to enhance their resume.

How much does it cost to pursue a MBA degree at Thiel College?

All tuition, program fees and a laptop are included in the total sum for this 11-month master's degree program. The total cost for this program including a graduate assistantship discount is $24,097.

When does each cohort of students begin?

Students begin classes in January, July or August each year.

What is required for admission to the MBA Program?

Applicants are required to have a 3.0 undergraduate GPA, submit undergraduate transcripts, three letters of recommendation, a resume and a personal statement as to why they are interested in the program.

Is there a part-time option?

Our Working Professional MBA allows for students to take the program at a part-time pace.

Are graduate assistantships available?

Yes! A graduate assistantship is available for each student. This allows for 400 hours of work experience on-campus in exchange for a discount on tuition.
