Discover the world of performing arts

Music and theatre at Thiel College is steeped in a rich history and tradition that dates back to 1877. Today, whether contemporary or classic, these programs pay homage to past performances through a broad range of performance-based offerings.

Thiel's performing arts programs are among the most popular and motivational activities the College has to offer. Students all across campus find them to be collaborative and creative, as well as educational.

COLLEGE

Theatre

The Theatre Department at Thiel College is a dynamic and exciting place where students learn about all aspects of theatrical performance, history and critical theories. The program offers a variety of classes in acting, improvisation, technical theatre, children's theatre, and theatre history.

Students interested in acting or the technical aspects of theatre will want to join Thiel Players and participate in one or more shows staged in the William A. Robinson Theatre each year. Production styles and genres range from the classics, Renaissance, and Restoration to cutting edge contemporary dramas and musicals.

Music

Thiel's popular and robust music programs have something for everyone, whether it's conducting, music theory, vocal ensembles, or private instruction.

Musicians have a wide array of options to showcase their musical talents in our choral group, marching band, concert band or a wide range of smaller instrumental groups working in every musical style.

Performing Arts Opportunities

There are a number of involvement opportunities available for you to join at Thiel, including:
